

Bringing communities together to plant trees and cool the planet

Internship at 1Treellion

Job Title/Role: Environmental Podcast Coordinator

Intern Location: Remote / Unpaid

Industries : Environmental Services, Non-Profit

Start Date: ASAP

Job Description: 1treellion is an NGO that aims to plant our planet. We are building a community around trees to fight climate change by planting trees globally. We have projects in Armenia, Kenya, Thailand, Uganda and more. Additional info is available at 1treellion.org.

The Butterfly Effect podcast is a channel we use to share our stories.

We are looking to hire a virtual interns to assist our world-wide team and help build the audience for the podcast. The job may include outreach for potential experts, preliminary research for an interview, defining the script, building the social media audience, increase the listeners pool, and more.

We're less than a year old, making this is an exciting opportunity to assist a non-profit that has the atmosphere of a start-up. We are flexible in terms of start date (and can start interns right away), weekly time commitment, and end date.

Interested? email us at info@1treellion.org with the subject line "Internship." Feel free to include a resume and cover letter, or even a short video introducing yourself instead. Also feel free to include any social media samples or other materials to demonstrate your expertise.

